fords a striking commentary upon the theories of the bankers and economists who predicted that when paper was made a legal tender gold would ise to twenty-five per cent premium, and quaper ald be so abundant and so worthless that no e would want to take it. On Tuesday last Mr. Cisco sold to the banks $3,000,000 of seven-thirty sotes, payment to be made in demand notes. Some of the banks thought they were doing a mart stroke of business in exchanging paper which bore no interest for paper bearing 7 3-10 per cent per annum. But when they came to pay for the seven-thirties, they discovered, to their amazement and dismay, that all the banks in this city had not in their vaults or under their control bree millions of demand notes out of the sixty which are affoat; and some institutions were actually obliged to go to Mr. Cisco and beg him to accept gold in lieu of the notes which they had agreed to furnish. We believe that he granted the favor, and even promised to let the banks have the gold back in exchange for legal tender notes, at some future period, if they should de The Board of Directors of the Cleveland and

Those who are sware of the difficulties with which this property has had to struggle during the past five years, and of the unfinching manner in which the company's credit has been sustained, will not be sorry to see it resume the place it has so long held among the ividend paying railroads. It is an essential and not the least important link in the great railroad chain which connects the scaboard with the West-Under proper management it should now maintain the position it has regained, and, after paying expenses and interest, should divide every year five to six per cent among its stockholders. The National Bank Note Company this day forwarded to Washington the first batch of the new legal tender Treasury notes—tens and fifties. The Chicago Tribune of Wednesday thus notices

The Chicago Tribune of Wednesday thus notices money and exchange matters in that city:—
Dulness still broods over the money market, with no immeliate prospect of a change for the better. Comparatively, transactions are merely nominal, and must remain so until it is known that the straits are opened. Business on the canal is to commence a week from to day, and that will be likely to create a demand for money for investment along the Illinois river, and give matters seemsthing of a start.

New York exchange is close. It is true the demand is light, and it is well that it is so; for any unusual calls would render the market very uncomfortably stringent and appreciate prices very considerably. At present the abundance of Eastern currency in circulation furnishes an ample resource to supply the wants of the market. Most of the banks continue to ship large parcels daily. Par a one-eighth are the buying rater.

the Union successes in that vicinity:—

The trade that was to be on the opening of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers promises but little after all, for at least some mouths to come. If there was a disposition to trade on the part of the inhabitants of those reconquered sections, they have no money, or at least none that will pass through the Northern States. A Tennessee paper says.—'The currency of the State is as sound now as it ever was." No doubt of it; and individual credit is as safe now as ever in a country chronically bankrupt. We have no aspersions to make upon the financial condition of the South; but we think it due to our readers to caution them against a too sanguine hope of a very profitable trade with the South, even though all military restrictions should be removed at once. A loss of $200,000,000 by the North in the bad faith and had dobts of the South is certainly enough to stimulate the caution of the former. We may as well lock facts straight in the face, and hant up other outlets and avenues of trade than those broken and destroyed by the rebellion. When the South resumes her allegiance, in process of time, trade will be doubtless revived with that section. But we consess that we are not deeply impressed with immediate prespects of a restoration of cld commercial relations.'

We have received the following sketch of the forthcoming report of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company:—

The Board of Managers of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company submit herewith the usual annual statement of the business of the company for the year ending March 1, 1822. The profits for the year are $602,083 35, being a little over 9 per cent on the capital stock. The canai was opened for navigation on the 22d day of April, and clessed on the 3d of December. During the sensor, mavigation was interrupted by freshets seven cays, and by breaks six days. On the 13th of February, 1861, an extraordinary ice flood occurred in the streams adjacent to the canal, causing, in addition to other slighter alpuries, a breach
